

The Getting-Dressed Race

CooCubby · English

Time to get dressed.

"Time to get dressed," said Mama Bear. On the bed were a t-shirt, shorts, socks, and shoes.

Dilly says: let's race!

Dilly the duckling peeked in. "Let's race! You put on your clothes, I'll put on my boots. Ready, steady, go!"

Head in the big hole.

First, the t-shirt. "Head in the big hole," said Mama Bear. Cubby pushed... and his head popped out. Hello!

Arms in the little holes.

"Arms in the little holes." One arm. Two arms. The kiwi was in front. Cubby checked.

One leg, two legs.

Shorts next. Cubby sat on the floor. One leg in. Two legs in. Then up they came!

Socks are tricky.

Socks were tricky. The sock went on sideways. Then backwards. Then… on! Dilly cheered.

Shoes on the right feet?

Shoes went on. Mama Bear looked. "Left foot, right foot?" They were swapped. Cubby giggled and swapped them.

Dilly wins. Then Cubby wins.

"I win!" said Dilly. "Boots are quick." "I win too," said Cubby. "I did it all by myself!"

Look in the mirror.

Cubby looked in the mirror. T-shirt, shorts, socks, shoes. "That's me," he said. "Dressed."

Off to play!

"Off to play!" And Cubby ran into the meadow in his own clothes, with the kiwi in front.
